The evening theme will be "Hell." Are the wicked annihilated or do they live forever? What is the real meaning of the Greek? Does the Bible say there is a second probation? If so, where? Future reconstructionists, of all faiths, especially invited to this service. All evening services are strictly evangelistic in their nature. Remember, this is a "church with a message", for you. Congregations and interest are increasing. A hearty welcome to you. DORMAN D. EDWARDS, Pastor.

Surprise Party.

Miss Frieda Butterfield gave a surprise party at her home on Second street Thursday evening for S. A. Peters, Jr., who leaves soon for Portland to take a position in the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The affair was participated in by eighteen young people and was a complete surprise to the guest of honor. There was something doing every minute during the evening, which opened with a secret program in which Elwood Hedberg and Grace King were awarded the prize for a vivid representation of Bluebird. The quotation contest was won by Miss Gains. Following this was an impromptu program. Several selections were given by a male quartet composed of Messrs. Hedberg, Throne, Dush and Peters, and there was a song by the girls and one by the boys. During the refreshment hour Elsie Dunn gave a toast to Mr. Peters, who responded feelingly. The affair was one of the happiest within the memory of the guests, who were: Misses Thelma Throne, Velma James, Vadie Peters, Ruby McClellan, Lillian Anant, Margaret Moore, Mabel Moore, Mrs. John King and Messrs. Merrill Throne, Elwood Hedberg, Orville James, Calvin McClellan, Frank Rush, John King, Fred Holgate, Elsie Dunn, S. A. Peters, Jr.

Mr. Jesse H. Dungan, editor and proprietor of the Orville Mercury, called at the Tidings office this morning. Mr. Dungan is in town for yesterday and today only, making Ashland the northern terminus of his trip. He states that two big irrigation projects are soon to be ready for operation in the vicinity of Orville, Cal., along the Feather river. Mr. Dungan took time to walk up through the parks as far as the automobile camp.

The Thimble Club will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. H. O. Frohbach.
